HEARINGS CONSIDER ESTABLISHMENT OF LIBRARY FOLKLIFE CENTER

On May 8 the Librarian of Congress testified before the Library Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration and on May 9 before the Library and Memorials Subcommittee of the House Committee on Administration on S. 1844 and H.R. 8770, bills to provide for the establishment of an American Folklife Center in the Library of Congress.

Mr. Mumford described the holdings and activities of the Archive of Folk Song, possible to a large extent through individual grants and gifts, and how the establishment of the Center would enhance these activities. He noted the timeliness of this legislation, the popular interest in folklore and folklife and the academic interest in ethnic studies, and our need, as the Bicentennial approaches, to understand the American heritage.

CIP CONTINUES TO GROW

The rate at which the Cataloging in Publication Program is covering U.S. publications is climbing steadily. For the four-week period ending April 19, the receipt of titles from publishers in the program was at a projected annual rate of 20,904 titles, the first four-week period to exceed the 20,000-title mark. The rate for the period ending April 26 was at the projected rate of 21,060 titles processed annually.

Additional growth was insured when nineteen new publishers joined the CIP Program in April. They were Advanced Learning Concepts, Inc.; American Hospital Association; Appalachian Consortium Press; Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U.S. Dept. of the Interior; Church and Synagogue Library Association; M. Evans and Co., Inc.; Family Law Publications; Hill & Wang; Isabella Steward Gardner Museum; Microform Review Inc.; National Science Teachers Association; Noonday Press; North River Press, Inc.; Panjandrum Press; Quadrangle/The New York Times Book Company; Sierra Club Books; State Historical Society of Iowa; Syracuse University Publications in Continuing Education; and Workshop for Learning Things, Inc.

LC HUMAN RELATIONS COMMITTEES

Where Have They Been; Where Are They Going? Part I

In the summer of 1972, Human Relations Committees were formed in each department of the Library to review topics of concern to LC staff members. Administrative duties occupied much of each committee's time in early meetings, but, with constitutions and objectives established, committee members turned their attention to identifying and dealing with the needs of staff members in their departments.

In less than two years much has been accomplished by the committees. The Information Bulletin will report the progress of each committee in this issue and the issue of May 24.

ADMINISTRATIVE DEPARTMENT

The Committee serves in an advisory capacity to the Director of the Department, F. E. Croxton. Topics for consideration come to the committee in one of three ways: (1) the director may ask the committee for advice on a specific problem; (2) a staff member of the department may submit a proposal for discussion; and (3) committee members may focus on a topic which they feel is relevant and worthy of their attention. Comments on the committee's draft proposals or recommendations are often solicited from various Library officials.

The committee has proposed changes in the departmental Affirmative Action Plan and believes that its suggestion that the program operate on three levels—technician to professional, clerical to technician, and lower level to clerical—will be considered in the planning for the second year of the Affirmative Action Plan in the Department.

Safety measures at the Library are a concern of the committee and a meeting with Stephen Bush, Safety and Preparedness Officer, was held to discuss fire prevention and emergency procedures at LC. Resulting recommendations were that fire drills be continued on a regular basis; that fire marshals be appointed in all divisions; and that special policemen be given the authority to call in alarms in case of fire. The committee felt that caution signs should be posted in construction areas adjacent to the Library and that a crosswalk be painted between the two buildings. (This final recommendation has been implemented.)

It was through the efforts of the Human Relations Committee of the Administrative Department that a special policeman was assigned to the cafeteria at

FREDERICK R. GOFF HONORED FOR DISTINGUISHED BOOK COLLECTING

In ceremonies held on May 5, Frederick R. Goff, Honorary Consultant to the Library of Congress in Early Printed Books and former Chief of its Rare Book Division, was awarded the St. Thomas Medal for distinction in book-collecting by the University of San Francisco. The occasion for the presentation was the annual meeting of USF's Gleeson Library Associates at which Mr. Goff spoke on "The Rare Book Librarian as Collector."

A native of Newport, R.I., Mr. Goff served 27 of his 32 years at the Library as head of the Rare Book Division. During his tenure, special collections of rare books, manuscripts, and pamphlets more than doubled. He retired in 1972.

The St. Thomas Medal was first awarded by the University in 1968. Mr. Goff joins former recipients Norman H. Strouse, C. Waller Barrett, Wilmarth Lewis, Lessing Rosenwald, Elmer Belt, and Gordon Ray in accepting this distinguished award.

AACR REVISED CHAPTER 6 TO BE PUBLISHED BY ALA

Camera-ready copy for the revised Chapter 6 of the Anglo-American Cataloging Rules, North American Text, which was drafted by the Library of Congress and approved by the American Library Association and the Canadian Library Association, has been sent to ALA Headquarters in Chicago for offset reproduction. This revision incorporates the provisions of the International Standard Bibliographic Description for Monographs [ISBD (M)]. It is hoped that copies of the revised chapter will be available in time for distribution and discussion at the annual ALA conference to be held this year in New York City from July 7-13. Implementation at the Library of Congress will begin following a brief training period to acquaint catalogers with the new provisions.

peak periods; that sandwich machines and microwave ovens were installed for employees who work other than the normal daytime tour of duty; and that a study of the Navy Yard Annex cafeteria was conducted by the Government Services Inc., which resulted in improved service.

The committee was intially responsible for conducting a survey of day care facilities in the Capitol Hill area and a search for possible sites. The subcommittee on this project has recently expanded to include members of Human Relations committees in other departments of the Library.

Future activities may include a survey for the department director of morale and communications within the department; an improved system of incentive awards, and a re-evaluation of the effectiveness of the Human Relations committee. Current HRC members are James P. Lee, Chairman; Noel Peterson, Vice Chairman; Lillie Bowie; Haskell Caldwell; Howard Dunn; John Dutch; Willie Jones; Renault King; Clifford Lomax; Beatrice Robinson; Parke Ward; and Shirley Whetstone. Election of members who will serve for fiscal year 1975 will be held in June.

PROCESSING DEPARTMENT

In its first two years of operation, the committee has worked toward the objectives it set for itself

when first established; those are to bring departmental matters of concern to the attention of staff members, to work closely with the Human Relations Council and Library administrators on areas of Library-wide interest, and to reflect the views of all Processing staff members in committee opinions expressed and action taken.

In past months the group has participated in meetings held to discuss the Equal Opportunity Draft Regulation, the Career Development Program for the Processing Department, labor-management relations in the Library, and departmental orientation program plans. At present, topics of concern to the committee are the establishment of uniform standards for LC job postings, the appointment of a Human Relations officer in each department of the Library, and the formation of a Library-wide supervisor evaluation program.

Members currently serving on the Processing Department Human Relations Committee are Edith Belmear, Chairwoman; Aaron McKinney, Vice Chairman; Charles Balton; Dorothy Bell; Emily Spears; Joyce Taylor; and Jennie Whitt. Labor-Management Relations subcommittee members are Lois Austin, Sandra Baumgardner, David Littlefield, Talma Newsome, Ferrold Thomas, and George Zmudka; Communications subcommittee members Susan Aramayo, Mazie Fuller, Austin Haywood, Mary Anne Joyce, Eugene Mackle, Eugene Weathers, and Louise Wyche; and Upward Mobility subcommittee members Sharon Cummings, Faye Diggs, Cleopatra McCann, and Elliott Whisonant.

REFERENCE DEPARTMENT

The committee consists of 34 representatives elected from the various divisions in the Reference Department. Members have modified the original plan which called for the committee membership to be made up of the delegate and an alternate from each division, and, through its by-laws, have granted equal status to all permanent and alternate representatives.

When the RDHRC began meeting in August 1972, its first task was to identify employees' problems and their priorities. In response to a questionnaire circulated in the Reference Department, employees indicated that problems of communication, promotion, and training should be tackled first and subcommittees were formed accordingly.

The committee is working to improve communications in the department on three levels, between (1) employees and supervisors, (2) employees and Library administration, and (3) RDHRC and department staff members. A proposal, resulting from this work, is currently before the Librarian's Conference for consideration and deals with employee evaluation of supervisors' effectiveness in dealing with their staff. Another pending proposal would require supervisors to discuss with their employees the educational and career advancement opportunities open to them. A proposal accepted in 1973 grants employees access to their own personnel folders and evaluations.

On the second level of communication, the committee represents Reference Department employees in formulating Library policy. Specifically, in December 1973, after the Librarian had announced that the Library would be open on New Year's Eve and for part of New Year's Day, the Executive Board of the RDHRC drew the Administration's attention to the ever-decreasing number of readers using the Library on those holidays and the Librarian responded by closing the Library. Recent committee testimony at the Affirmative Action Plan hearings for fiscal year 1975 led to the establishment of an interdepartmental discussion group which would both educate employees about the Affirmative Action Plan and provide a vehicle for employee input into the Plan.

On the third level of communication, the committee is working to improve dissemination of information about its own activities by circulating copies of the minutes of its meetings in each division and by reporting orally at division staff meetings. It is hoped that this will encourage employee involvement in the RDHRC.

The committee encouraged the Reference Department Office to survey the staff to determine interest in courses listed in the current "Library of Congress Inservice Training Schedule" and to see that those eligible were allowed to participate in the courses. In hearings for the Affirmative Action Plan for 1975, the committee requested that the percentage of the budget spent on employee education be increased to 13 percent. A pending RDHRC proposal provides for the preparation of training manuals for each job in the Department and for their distribution to incumbents and incoming employees.

On the subject of promotions for employees, the chief areas of concern to the committee are the lack of uniformity in posted job requirements, the lack of a Library policy on promotion, and inconsistencies in promotion practices. Currently work groups within the committee are studying these topics.

With the advent of the energy crisis, the committee formed a transportation subcommittee to study the transportation needs of Reference Department employees. This subcommittee is now petitioning for funds to continue the parking experiment at R.F.K. Stadium, looking for private garages for rent and additional parking areas on Capitol Hill, and compiling a gas station directory for the Main and Annex Buildings and outlying annexes. A recommendation for placing copies of the Metro Atlas at convenient locations in each building is now pending.

On March 19 the full RDHRC met at the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped in the first of a proposed series of meetings to be held at outlying annexes. In an attempt to bridge the isolation gap which exists between employees in the Main and Annex Buildings and those in distant annexes, the RDHRC will hold one business meeting per year at each annex represented in its membership. The large staff turnout and active participation at DBPH gave every indication that the plan will be a success.

STAFF NEWS

AWARDS

Eight Incentive Awards were presented to staff members of the Copyright Office by L. Quincy Mumford in ceremonies held in the Librarian's office on April 22.

Dennis Everett, Service Division, received a Meritorious Service Award plus a cash award of $200 for his "significant contribution to the work of the Copyright Office and professional manner in which [he] performed all phases of these duties in the absence of the Head of the Records Section."

Three staff members and one former staff member of the Cataloging Division were cited for the contributions they made as members of a committee appointed to achieve standardization in all classes of material cataloging and to facilitate automation of this process. For their commendable efforts, which reflected credit upon them and the Library of Congress, Incentive Awards and cash awards of $150 were given to Adelia O. Heller, Chairwoman of the committee; Edward Kapusciarz; Ann Palmer; and Ross Stuckey, a former member of the Division.

Betsy Hostler of the Editing and Publishing Section was given an Incentive Award plus a $175 cash award for her "outstanding knowledge of the Multilith Unit [and her] exceptional performance and proficiency in the area of Editing and Publishing."

Linda L. Hutterly of the Examining Division was cited for her "significant contribution to the work in the Renewal and Assignment Section in a manner so superior as to warrant special recognition" and received an Incentive Award plus a cash award of $175.

James E. Poole, Service Division, received an Incentive Award and a $125 cash award for his significant contribution "in recruiting qualified applicants for positions in the Mail Unit [which] has enabled the Unit to keep the increasing volume of work current."

STAFF ACTIVITIES

Eilene Galloway, Senior Specialist in International Relations, Foreign Affairs Division, Congressional Research Service, gave a speech on "The Applicability of Space Treaties to Space Stations" at the annual meeting of the American Society of International Law, which held a session on "Space Stations: Present and Future," on April 26, at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Washington, D.C.

At the invitation of the Ford Foundation and with joint support of the Library of Congress, Mary Ellis Kahler, Chief of the Latin American, Portuguese, and Spanish Division, in February spent two weeks in Brazil visiting selected libraries and documentation centers in Rio de Janeiro, São Paulo, Campinas, and Brasilia. Prof. Richard M. Morse, Ford Foundation Program Advisor in the Social Sciences and Michael Conniff, Consultant, accompanied Mrs. Kahler during the survey trip, which was planned with primary emphasis on observing and evaluating resources for graduate programs and research in the social sciences. A report which was submitted to the Ford Foundation in April summarized findings of the survey visits.

The Biblioteca Nacional, the Arquivo Nacional, the Library and Centro de Pesquisa e Documentação de Historia Contemporânea do Brasil of the Fundação Getulio Vargas, the Instituto Brasileiro de Bibliografia e Documentação, the Instituto Nacional de Livro, and the Senado and Camara dos Deputados of the Congress were among government agencies visited. Other institutions visited included the Instituto Histórico e

Geográfico Brasileiro, the Centro de Memoria Social, and the Fundação Oliveira Viana. An opportunity was also afforded to observe services and collections at central and departmental libraries of the Universidade Federal Fluminense, the Universidade Estadual de Campinas, the Universidade de São Paulo, and the Universidade de Brasilia.

A lithograph by Herbert J. Sanborn, Exhibits Officer, has been selected for the Northern Virginia Fine Arts Association Fifth Annual Juried Athenaeum Show. The print, entitled "Hot Potato," was designated "Distinguished for Merit" and will be on display through May 25 at 201 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Library of Congress Professional Association will present a slide lecture by Ernest Rohdenburg, Exhibits Office, entitled "Sculpture at the Library of Congress," on May 29 at 11:45 a.m. in the Coolidge Auditorium.

Major works by at least 24 well-known sculptors are to be found in the Main Building of the Library. Of this considerable number, seven of the most important and interesting artists and their creations will be discussed, including Herbert Adams, Paul Bartlett, Daniel Chester French, Philip Martiny, Roland Hinton Perry, Louis St. Gaudens, and Albert Weinert.

Attention will be given not only to works by these men at the Library, but also to other sculpture by them in the Washington area. A data sheet containing information about all 24 artists will be available at the lecture.

New Serial Titles: A Union List of Serials Commencing Publication After December 31, 1949. ISSN 0028-6680. April 1974. (iv, 38 p.) Prepared under the sponsorship of the Joint Committee on the Union List of Serials and issued in eight monthly and four quarterly issues and a cumulative annual volume. For sale by the Card Division for $170 a year.

The Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC): A List of Research Materials in the Library of Congress and Other American Libraries. April, 1974. (5 p.) Compiled by the Union Catalog and International Organizations Reference Section, this listing of 42 items was undertaken because no separately published bibliography on the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, an intergovernmental organization much in the news recently, has been identified. Included are Western-language materials issued by OPEC or under its aegis, selected works about the Organization, and a brief note about its structure and functions.

For OPEC publications, the citations are divided into two categories: monographs and serials. A final section covers works about OPEC but does not include individual articles from periodicals or newspapers. Copies of the list are available without charge from the Library of Congress, GR&B UCIO, Attention: OPEC, Washington, D.C. 20540.

Yugoslavia, A Bibliographic Guide, recently compiled by Michael B. Petrovich working with the Slavic and Central European Division and published by the Library of Congress, was supported, in part, by a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies. Press Releases: No. 74-13 (May 2) Library of Congress to Hold Conference on Library Service for Blind and Physically Handicapped; No. 74-14 (May 6) Dorothy M. Schrader Appointed General Counsel of Library of Congress Copyright Office.

New Microfilm Publications: The Library of Congress has available 35mm positive microfilm of five Russian journals—two émigre periodicals and three literary publications.

Beseda, Berlin, 1923-25, founded with the participation of Maxim Gor'kii, was intended to serve as an intermediary between Soviet literature and that of the émigres. Copies are available on one reel for $11. Sovremennyia zapiski, Paris, 1920-40, tended to reflect the views of the Russian Socialist Revolutionary Party, but later broadended to include many other trends of thought. Copies are available on 14 reels for $160. Viesy, Moscow, 1904-09, represented what has been termed an "anti-realist" position in that it reflected the views of writers interested in esthetics and form rather than current problems. The journal is available on three reels for $32. Viestnik inostrannoi literatury, St. Petersburg, 1891-1915, was devoted to translations from and critical articles about non-Russian literature; after 1905 it delved into social and political events. It is available on 44 reels for $533. Dielo, St. Petersburg, 1866-88, was one of the more liberal voices of Russian periodical literature and succeeded in raising many critical questions to the level of public expression, until a change of ownership in 1883 reversed popularity. It is available on 52 reels for $525.

Orders for the microfilm should include a check made payable to the Chief, Photoduplication Service. Orders or inquiries should be addressed to: Library of Congress, Photoduplication Service, Department C-221, Washington, D.C. 20540.

NEWS IN THE LIBRARY WORLD

Robert Penn Warren Delivers 1974 Jefferson Lecture

Robert Penn Warren, Library of Congress Consultant in Poetry in 1944-45 and Honorary Consultant in American Letters from 1966 to 1972, delivered the third annual Jefferson Lecture in the Humanities in Washington, D.C., on April 29 and 30. The two-part address, sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities, drew a large and distinguished audience of students; scholars; members of Congress, the administration, and the Supreme Court; the Washington diplomatic corps; chairmen and members of State humanities committees from nearly all of the 50 States and the District of Columbia; and members of the National Council on the Humanities.

The Jefferson Lecture was created to help bridge the gap between the worlds of learning and public affairs; Mr. Warren's topic was "Democracy and Poetry." [An account of the author's visit to the Library to receive the National Medal for Literature in 1970 appeared in the LC Information Bulletin for December 10, 1970, pp. 661-2.]

Modern Archives Institute Group Visits LC

Participants of the 30th Institute in Modern Archives Administration, held in Washington, D.C., spent one day, May 1, at the Library of Congress in a program organized by the Manuscript Division.

Manuscript Division staff members who addressed the gathering were John C. Broderick, Assistant Chief, who spoke on "Acquisition of Manuscripts and Personal Papers, Past History and Present Practice;" John D. Knowlton, Head of the Preparation Section, on "Organization, Description, Preservation, and Handling;" and John McDonough, Manuscript Historian, and Carolyn H. Sung, Head of the Reader Service Section, on "Reference and Reader Service." Arline Custer, Head of the Manuscripts Section, Descriptive Cataloging Division, discussed The National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections, of which she is Editor.

The participants were joined for mid-morning coffee by other officers and staff members of the Library. The day concluded with tours of the Manuscript Division.

The Institute is sponsored by American University in cooperation with the National Archives, the Library of Congress, and the Maryland Hall of Records.

Forty-two librarians and archivists from 20 states, the District of Columbia, and the Canal Zone participated in the 30th Institute, which was headed by Frank B. Evans, Assistant Executive Director of the National Archives. [John C. Broderick]

APPOINTMENTS

Doralyn J. Hickey, formerly Associate Professor of Library Science at the University of North Carolina and the 1973 recipient of the Margaret Mann Citation in Cataloging and Classification, has been appointed Director of the University of Wisconsin-Madison Library School.

Joseph F. Volker and Ethel Weinberg have been appointed to the National Library of Medicine Board of Regents. Dr. Volker is President of the University of Alabama (Birmingham) and Dr. Weinberg is Associate Dean of the Medical College of Pennsylvania.

GRANTS AND AWARDS

Mary M. Nash of the National Science Library in Ottawa is the recipient of the 1974 Nancy Stirling Lambert Scholarship, given to support inquiry into matters of common interest to booksellers and to librarians and funded by the century-old firm of B. H. Blackwell, Ltd., of Oxford. The scholarship is tenable at the College of Librarianship of the University of Wales, where Mrs. Nash will be a candidate for the M. Lib. degree.

The National Endowment for the Humanities has awarded a grant of up to $2,751,568 to Yale University to support the establishment of the first National Institute for the Humanities, which will be directed by Maynard Mack, Sterling Professor of English at Yale. Several similar institutes will be established at major universities across the country in the next few years. During each of the operational years, 10 senior fellows and 10 junior fellows will attend the institute; the main theme, "The Humanities and the National Life," will be divided by years into three topics—"American Roots," "Humanistic Values," and "Educational Applications."
